

1:1 executive advising

strategic support, truly tailored to your needs as a leader | it can be lonely at the top, but it doesn't have to be this is for you if you can yes to any of these

- you're feeling burnt out
- you're managing a crisis, a big strategic shift, or some other inflection point
- you'd like a stronger, even more productive relationship w/ your board
- you need help strategizing around healthy workplace culture, managing remote and/or matrixed teams, improving staff morale, dealing with an HR situation, etc.
- you know there are certain things that need attention from you in your leadership role but you just can't find the time we'll do everything from ghost write that tricky email that you need to send to staff, to develop strategies for dealing with tricky stakeholders, to create game-changing meeting agendas. it's up to you.

outcomes

1. a weight lifted off your shoulders
2. productive, specific, real-world strategies & action plans centered on your specific challenges
3. a trusted thought partner in your corner

This goes beyond coaching, getting down into the details with you and co-crafting specific strategies and tactics.
