

open office hours

a different kind of networking | it can be lonely at the top, but it doesn't have to be

this is for you if you can yes to any of these

- you are facing leadership and management challenges.
- you'd love to network in a small group setting with other leaders/managers across fields who are facing similar challenges.
- you thrive in group-based problem-solving and brainstorming.
- you're looking for more affordable leadership/management advising built around the specific needs of the group and may involve brainstorming, working on shared documents, sharing best practices and challenges, etc. always focused on practical, real-time solutions and action plans, not just hazy theory and chit-chat.

outcomes

1. productive, specific goals
2. soft-skills-building around leadership & management
3. reduced stress, improved motivation, and clearer thinking around management and leadership

ideal for: small business owners, small nonprofit EDs, startup founders, middle management, store managers, etc.

$155/session

- 2 1-hr sessions a week: choose what works for you.
- no minimum attendance: sometimes you luck out and get 1:1 support.
- easily fits in most professional development budgets.
